

HISTORY WITH AN ATTITUDE, EH?

Kathryn Remlinger

June 28, 2007, 7:00 p.m.

Room 642

Dow Environmental Sciences & Engineering Building

Kathryn Remlinger, recipient of a 2007 MTU Archives Travel Grant award, presents "History With An Attitude, Eh?" a look at language and life in the Keweenaw Peninsula, Thursday evening, June 28, at 7 p.m., in Room 642 of the Dow Building on the Michigan Tech campus. The event is free and open to all.

Do you speak Yooperese? Words like "eh," "pank," and "go Shopko" are a part of the local Copper Country dialect. The MTU Archives presents "History with an Attitude, Eh? Links between Dialect and Identity in the Copper Country," a talk by Kathryn Remlinger, an associate professor at Grand Valley State University, and recipient of a 2007 MTU Archives Travel Grant award. Remlinger will present her research into language and life in the Keweenaw Peninsula, this Thursday evening, June 28, at 7 p.m., in Room 642 of the Dow Building on the Michigan Tech campus.

Remlinger's presentation and research visit are supported by an MTU Archives Research Travel Award provided by the Friends of the Van Pelt Library. The Michigan Tech 'Archival Speaker Series,' highlights current research in the Archives' collections. The presentation is free and open to the public. For further information or directions to the event, contact the MTU Archives at (906) 487-2505 or via e-mail at copper@mtu.edu
